"The South 40"
by JAMES A. SMITH
EXTENSION AGENT

We've mentioned in this column several times that Di-Syston did an outstanding job on tobacco last year.

When something works, farmers tell other people about it.This has always been true. To illustrate this, I want to share with you a letter I received last week from an Agent in one of the dark fire-cured tobacco counties.

"Dear Jim:

We just had one of our dark tobacco growers come in the office inquiring what type of granular material that you put on the field and work into the soil before planting tobacco to control all insects that affect tobacco except budworms. The reason I am writing you is because this farmer talked to a Mr. Moore and Martin Brothers from your county who were selling tobacco on the Lynchburg Market and their tobacco didn't have any holes or insect damage at all. They told Mr. Updike, my farmer, that they used material recommended by you which you broadcast on the soil and work in two weeks before planting that controls everything.

I have searched every "nook and corner" in the 1971 Virginia Insect Control Guide concerning tobacco and I cannot find any recommendations where a granular material is recommended that controls everything except budworms. I would appreciate you advising what this miracle product is and where it can be purchased. Are you by any chance recommending Di-Syston 15% granulars?"

Sincerely yours,

My reply was as follows:

"Dear ____:

Yes, Di-Syston is the material. The boys were bragging just a bit about it controlling everything. These fellows are top tobacco producers and always do a good job!!!"

Grass tetany is a disease that affects only lactating cows. It's that season of the year when you can possibly expect its appearance. We've not had a positive identification of this disease in Appomattox County, but there's no reason to assume we won't.

The disease is caused by a lack of Magnesium or a lack of Magnesium assimilation. Milking cows need 1/2 ounce of Magnesium Oxide daily until about mid-June.

If you're going to avoid the usual summer problem of crab grass in the lawn – better do some planning.

There are two types of herbicides that can be used. One is a post-emergence the other is a pre-emergence. It's the latter, pre-emergence, that I want to discuss.

There are several materials recommended, but only one is locally available. This is Dacthal. It's time to get it on the lawn if you're going to knock our crab grass. Remember, next month will be too late.

Thee's a real fine program all set for April 14, at the Steeles Tavern Research Station. It will be directed toward beef and sheep producers.

Tuesday night we will conclude the seminar on beef cattle. Curtis Mast, Beef Cattle Specialist from V.P.I. will discuss two important subjects, "Cross Breeding and Artificial Breeding." These are the two "hot subjects" in beef cattle circles.

This will be at the District Extension Office, Main Street, 7:30 p.m.
